

'This book has everything you need to encourage children and their caregivers to love nature!'

- Melanie Borski-Howe, Youth Services Specialist, Boulder Public Library, USA; Coauthor of Storytime and Beyond: Having Fun with Early Literacy

'Heather McNeil's creative approach to learning about nature enhances student engagement.

Read Me a Tree, Rhyme Me a Bee is a teacher's dream!'

- Lynne Ekstrom, Retired 1st- and 2nd-grade teacher, Bend-LaPine School District, USA

'This book is an absolute gem for me, a kindergarten teacher.

It's the perfect recipe for a joyful and enriching learning experience that nurtures a deep respect and appreciation for the environment.'

- Deanna Chambers, Highland Magnet School at Kenwood, USA

'McNeil provides clear, approachable, and informative guidance on how to incorporate all varieties of nature into learning—and most importantly, how to make it fun with songs, books, and eco-friendly arts.'

- Sally Compton, Executive Director, Think Wild, USA

Librarians and teachers will welcome these ideas for developing a nature storytime that features books, rhymes, movement, and activities and encourages young children to learn about and appreciate animals, plants, weather, and ecosystems.

Heather McNeil is Manager of Youth Services at Deschutes Public Libraries, Bend, Oregon, USA.
